

ACCREDIA – LANARTEX ACCREDITATION AGREEMENT

ACCREDITATION No. 00498 TESTING (FORMERLY No. 0572L)
REV. 3 DATED 1 OCTOBER 2026

Lanartex S.r.l. is a testing laboratory accredited by ACCREDIA, the sole national accreditation body in Italy, in conformity with UNI CEI EN ISO/IEC 17025:2018 (ISO/IEC 17025:2017), under accreditation number 00498 (Testing scheme). Number 00498 replaced the previous number 0572L, which may appear on Test Reports issued in the past.

WHAT ACCREDITATION ATTESTS

Accreditation attests that the laboratory's organisation and procedures are adequate to provide a competent, consistent and impartial service for the tests within the scope of accreditation, in accordance with UNI CEI EN ISO/IEC 17025:2018 and ACCREDIA requirements. The laboratory also operates a management system in line with the principles of UNI EN ISO 9001.

THE ACCREDITATION AGREEMENT

The laboratory has signed the Accreditation Agreement with ACCREDIA, which governs the relationship between the parties and refers to the applicable ACCREDIA regulations and requirements. The text in force is the ACCREDIA document "Convenzione di Accreditamento tra ACCREDIA e Organismi che svolgono servizi di valutazione della conformità (CABs)" (Accreditation Agreement between ACCREDIA and Conformity Assessment Bodies), reference CO, rev. 08, in force since 23 January 2025, published by ACCREDIA on www.accredia.it.

On request, clients may view a copy of the signed Agreement and of the ACCREDIA documents it refers to at the laboratory's premises. In the event of suspension, reduction or withdrawal of the accreditation, the laboratory promptly informs the clients concerned.

TEST REPORTS AND USE OF THE MARK

- The laboratory uses the ACCREDIA mark and the reference to accreditation in accordance with the ACCREDIA Regulation RG-09 in force, and only for tests within the scope of accreditation.
- Test Reports bearing the ACCREDIA mark relate to accredited tests; any non-accredited tests included in the same report are identified as such.
- A Test Report does not constitute approval or certification of the sample or product tested.
- Opinions and interpretations, other than statements of conformity with requirements and/or specifications, are not covered by ACCREDIA accreditation.
- Clients may not use the ACCREDIA mark or the reference to the laboratory's accreditation: they may not appear on a product or sample or in product documentation, nor be used to imply product certification.

- A copy of the Test Report may, however, be attached to product documentation. This limitation exists because accreditation concerns the laboratory's competence to perform the tests, not the product.
- Test Reports may be reproduced only in full; partial reproduction requires the laboratory's written authorisation.

On the website. The laboratory also uses the ACCREDIA mark on its website www.lanartex.it. ACCREDIA Regulation RG-09 (rev. 13, in force since 1 January 2026) allows this: use of the mark outside Test Reports is optional (§ 6.4.9) and websites are among the permitted media (§ 6.4.11). The laboratory manages it according to the following criterion:

- The mark is the one for accredited laboratories, complete with the "TESTING" scheme and number 00498 (§§ 6.1.1 and 6.4.11), at a size that keeps the number legible (§ 12). The institutional mark, reserved for ACCREDIA, is never used (§ 6.4.2).
- It appears only where the website presents the accreditation: in the panels linking to the accreditation certificate (home page, Laboratory and Download pages) and, once only, above the table on the "Available tests" page. It does not appear in the site header or footer.
- On the "Available tests" page each accredited test is identified individually by the wording "Accredited · no. 00498". Tests without this wording are outside the scope of accreditation: a note below the table says so and refers to the official list of accredited tests, annexed to the certificate (§§ 6.4.11 and 6.4.12).
- The wording is shown only after the laboratory has confirmed, test by test, that the test is within the scope of accreditation, and is removed when the test leaves it: the website does not infer it by itself.
- The mark is not used in e-mail signatures, on business cards or on the laboratory's internal documents, as prohibited by § 6.4.14.

RESPONSIBILITY

Accreditation does not reduce the laboratory's responsibility for the activities it performs: the laboratory alone is responsible for them towards its clients and third parties. ACCREDIA accepts no responsibility for test results or for any opinion or interpretation derived from them, and does not approve the products or samples tested.

CONFIDENTIALITY

During accreditation assessments, ACCREDIA assessors may examine the laboratory's records, including Test Reports. ACCREDIA and the laboratory are bound not to disclose their content to third parties, except where required by law: the Test Report is the property of the client who receives it.

INTERNATIONAL RECOGNITION

ACCREDIA is a signatory of the EA (EA MLA) and ILAC (ILAC MRA) mutual recognition agreements, which for testing laboratories cover accreditation to UNI CEI EN ISO/IEC 17025. Under these agreements the signatory bodies recognise the equivalence of each other's accreditations: Test Reports issued under ACCREDIA accreditation enjoy the same recognition as those of laboratories accredited in the other participating countries, which facilitates their acceptance on foreign markets. The lists of signatories are published at www.european-accreditation.org and www.ilac.org.

CERTIFICATE AND LIST OF ACCREDITED TESTS

The accreditation certificate and the list of accredited tests, in the revision in force, are available in the Download area of www.lanartex.it. The same data can be consulted in the database of accredited laboratories on www.accredia.it, by searching for accreditation number 00498 or the laboratory name.
